A woman stands in the center of a narrow, red-walled corridor. She is wearing a dark blue sari with a green floral pattern and a bright yellow-green border. She is also wearing a gold necklace and earrings. The corridor has a stone floor and a red door in the background. Above the door, there is a small decorative element resembling a deer head. The walls of the corridor are red and have a series of small, rectangular openings. The overall atmosphere is warm and traditional.
